Perdition's Ransom

_Wondrous item, rare (requires attunement)_

Perdition's Ransom is a woollen cowl or scarf in a variety of decorator colours. Gifted to a follower of The Unknown as a weapon against the undead, it makes the wearer more effective against them in battle, but with a cost that the otherworldly creator may not understand.

While wearing this, when you or anyone you can see within 15ft of you take necrotic damage, the scarf will reduce that damage by 2d6. You must then choose a creature you can see within 15ft of you to take those necrotic damage points instead. The target can be the creature that initially inflicted the damage, or yourself, or any other creature within range except the one that was the original target.

---

by Stuart Langridge