Ring of Keys

Wondrous item, various

A ring of keys is a finger ring which looks to have been carved from multicoloured blue stone. Touching a (mundane) key to it while saying the command word will "record" that key in the ring. Later, pressing the ring to a lock opened by that key and saying the command word again will unlock that lock. The ring does not actually produce a key; the lock is unlocked by magic, in a similar (but soundless) way to a knock spell. Common versions of the ring of keys can hold one key, uncommon versions three keys, and rare versions as many keys as you want.
